

Tennessee Council for the Social Studies Membership Application

The Tennessee Council for the Social Studies (TCSS) is an association devoted to providing information, resources, and support for all those involved in social studies education. This includes K-12 teachers, supervisors of instruction, and college professors, in the various disciplines interested in and involved in the social studies.

Benefits of membership into TCSS include inclusion on the TCSS electronic mailing list with priority notification of resource materials and opportunities for our members and the opportunity to network with others who are interested in the social studies.
